

Dr Chris Jones is a Sports Physician who completed his Sport and Exercise Medicine MSc at University College London and is currently the Chief Medical Officer for Charlton Athletic FC.

He conducts all of our isokinetic, fitness and movement analysis testing and leads on the medical screening of athletes in the clinic.

Interest areas include the conservative management of osteoarthritis through exercise, neuromuscular training and the prevention of injuries.