

Dr Philip Batty MB, ChB, MRCP, DRCOG, PG Dip (SEM), FFSEM (UK) is on the GP Register and Specialist Register for Sport and Exercise Medicine.

Dr Philip Batty has been involved in elite sports medicine for 22 years. He worked as the deputy club doctor at Manchester United between 1996 and 1999 before joining Blackburn Rovers Football Club as Head of Sports Medicine. He combined this role with positions at the English Institute of Sport and Sedbergh School.

He became head of Sports Medicine at Manchester City Football Club in 2011-2012. He followed this as Senior Team Doctor for the England Rugby Team from 2012-2014 before taking on his current role as Medical Director at the Isokinetic Medical Clinic in London.

Dr Batty has served as the Training Programme Director in Sports and Exercise Medicine for the North West and also on the Speciality Advisory Committee.

He has served on the Council for the Faculty of Sport and Exercise Medicine and is a former Vice President.

He is currently the Educational and Clinical Lead for the Independent Doctors Federation.